DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The amendment filed Sep 5, 2005 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: the amendment made on paragraph [0016].

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 2, 4, and 6-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wessel, U.S. Patent 6,802,231 B1.

Wessel shows, in Figs. 1-4, a housing for a bicycle shifter comprising a first housing 2 having an opening 4, a liftable closure member 1 forming a one-piece integral element connected to the first housing to open and close the opening by lifting the liftable closure member, wherein the closure member includes a planar flexural region (in Fig. 2 between the element 1 and the hinge portion 6 and the area butting against the wall 1) to facilitate the opening and closing of the closure member, a catch element engaged with a housing recess (see Fig. 3), wherein the closure member exerts a surface pressure on the opening, and a detachable insertion device 6; and the liftable closure member having a substantially constant thickness (as shown in Fig. 3).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed Mar 6, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that the flexural region of Wessel is not have a substantially constant thickness. It is the Examiner's view that Wessel shows the flexural region having a substantially constant thickness. The flexural region of Wessel has been defined as the area between the hinge 6 and the closure 1 and, particularly, the portion that abuts against the wall 1. Such region is construed to have a substantially constant thickness.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3682
